

Larvotto Lists on European Exchange

Larvotto Resources Limited (ASX:LRV, 'Larvotto' or 'the Company') has today announced it has commenced trading on German-based trading platform, Tradegate AG ('Tradegate').

Following increasing investor enquires and demand globally, the Company made a submission for listing on Tradegate shortly after its IPO on the Australian Securities Exchange ('ASX') with the objective of widening its investor reach.

Larvotto is actively exploring its portfolio of projects including its copper, gold and cobalt project Queensland (Mt Isa), an exciting gold exploration project in New Zealand (Ohakuri) and the base metals and lithium project (Eyre) in Western Australia.

Chairman, Mr Mark Tomlinson, said, "Investor interest in the Company from Europe has been strong since our IPO last year.

"Our quality exploration assets have successfully attracted support from European investors, so it made sense for us to build direct access to these capital markets, while increasing trading liquidity and expanding our shareholder base."

"We expect to see a growing appetite from Europe for quality Australian exploration companies, particularly those with exposure to the EV metals space."

Tradegate AG is a fully regulated exchange which is 60% owned by Deutsche Börse AG, one of Europe's largest exchanges. With over 10,000 securities from around the world, Tradegate offers a wide array of products, including British, European and US stocks.

Larvotto's new German ticker is K6X and the ISIN code is AU0000183253.
