

Larvotto Accepted to Defense Industrial Base Consortium

Highlights

- Larvotto's application to the Defense Industrial Base Consortium (DIBC) has been accepted
- The DIBC is a US Department of Defense-funded initiative focused on research and commercial solutions for defense requirements
- Larvotto's DIBC membership provides access to a collaboration database, allowing members to search for capabilities and collaboration interests

Larvotto Resources Limited (ASX: LRV, Germany: K6X, 'Larvotto' or 'the Company') is pleased to advise that its application to the DIBC has been accepted. The DIBC enables rapid research, access to commercial solutions for defense requirements, and innovations from industry, academia, and non-traditional contractors. DIBC members focus on identifying, developing, and testing cutting-edge capabilities at the speed of innovation.

Managing Director, Ron Heeks, commented:

"We are delighted to be accepted into the DIBC, which reflects the global significance of our Hillgrove Antimony-Gold Project as it moves towards production. With an anticipated production of 7% of the world's antimony supply, Hillgrove is poised to play a strategic role in addressing the critical minerals needs of the global market.

Our membership in the DIBC will provide the opportunity to form valuable connections and partnerships, ensuring Hillgrove's strategic value is recognised. We look forward to leveraging the DIBC's resources and network as we advance our commitment to becoming a cornerstone of the global antimony market."

This announcement has been authorised for release by the Board of Directors.
